June 13—

Principe de Asturias, for Shanghai

We would draw attention to the advertisement in another column with regard to the Shandean Hotel and Land Co., Limited.

After a fortnight of hard thinking the majority of us believed which direct and contrary to the operations of the Public Works Department have arrived at the conclusion that the best way to get this Colony out of the mud in which it was buried fourteen days ago is to divide the place into sections and get contractors to undertake the removal of the storm-deposit from each section within a given time. This is a glorious discovery, and shows in a striking way what long and intense study of a subject can bring about.

The problem has been fully considered in all its bearings. There has been no difficulty in the necessary minutes or reports or recommendations or proposals or any of the other important formulæ necessary in dealing with a crisis. Eminent officials have been carefully and patiently sitting on the mud until they have got to know it thoroughly and to understand how it should be treated. They have done nothing rashly, and now that they have given their verdict the community may rest assured that it is a well-deliberated one. There are people who say this decision ought to have been come to about a couple of weeks ago, when everybody else had arrived at it, but they forget that the Governmental mind does not move in that absurdly rapid and ordinary way. At all events, the conclusion has now been reached, and the end of the greatest mud age looks not quite so far off as it did a few days ago. The question of how the mud is to be disposed of has also been considered.

The portion of it removed has been dumped at the principal wharf in the harbour, but as a blind and unresponsible public and press could not see it to be an advantage to have this point of traffic made inaccessible, the Government had to give way to popular prejudice, and has now decreed that the mud shall be dumped at another point—namely, opposite the City Hall, where it will be useful in connection with the Pary Reclamation scheme, and will not cause inconvenience. After the directing and controlling hands have had the rest which their recent exertions necessitate, they will no doubt establish a further claim on public gratitude by considering the choked-drain question.

There is good news for Mr Goddard and his co-skeptics for the perspiration of Sunday labour in the harbour.—Bombay, May 21.—With the view of putting a stop to Sunday work at the docks, the Port Trust have raised the charges from thirty to two hundred rupees.

The promenade concert, says the Regional News, are now in full swing and serve as a break from occupations of leisure for one night in Hongkong. Notwithstanding the heat, nearly all the Garrison attend and thoroughly enjoy themselves with dancing for a couple of hours.

A NEW RAZOR.—Mr F. A. Arbous has invented a razor that is likely to supersede those at present in general use. The 'Arbous' is simplicity itself. In a small case the shaver may, if he feels so disposed, have a blade for every day in the week; as one handle can be daily fitted with a new blade by simply turning a screw, which releases the one in use, and a fresh one can be adjusted in its place. The blades are highly tempered, and make shaving an easy matter even to the most nervous.

On the 2nd inst. he broke out in the tanning godown of Messrs Cornes & Co., Yokohama. The godown was destroyed, and an adjoining house belonging to Messrs Virant was burned. Fortunately there was not a large amount of tea in the godown. The damage, by the destruction of the buildings and the tea stored in it, is put at between sixteen and eighteen thousand dollars. The godown and its contents were insured with the China Fire and Lancashire Insurance Companies, and the property of Messrs Virant with the former office.

Sows' sonication has been produced in Vienna by the escape of Prince Joseph Sulkowski from the private asylum of Professor Leidecker, in the suburb of Dublin. The Prince, who as Duke of Biebrich has a seat in the Upper Chamber of Prussia, was declared a lunatic and placed under restraint in May, 1853. He has been twice married, his second wife being the operetta singer, Mlle. Ida Jager. He owns large estates in Austria and Hungary as well as Prussia, the value of his possessions being estimated at ten million florins. It is suspected that parties interested in his fortune have assisted in his escape, and the police are in search of two ladies with whom he spoke in French over the fence of Ledebur Park one day shortly before his escape. The theory is that the case is one of abduction. Prince Sulkowski suffers from hereditary madness. One of his ancestors killed his own mother. Prior to his confinement the eccentricities of the escaped Prince were of European notoriety, and were made the subject of a German novel by Herr Max Ring. It is believed that the Prince has fled to Switzerland or Paris.

AN OMNIOUS CHANGE.—The Roman Catholics are experiencing great difficulty in inducing men to attend church, and in New York city the Paulist Fathers have adopted an expedient which promises to be useful for this special purpose, but probably also will accomplish other results, some of which may not be desirable, from the point of view of the authorities. These dispensations with the use of the sacraments, except in cases of extreme necessity, is incomprehensible, we believe. This substitution of English for an unknown tongue is sensible and commendable, in itself considered. But it is an important consideration that the ground opinion among the Roman Catholic laity which criticizes and condemns the non-American character and tendencies of much which the Roman Catholic Church, as such, regards as more or less essential. It is an acknowledgment that the conditions of society here are so different from those which exist elsewhere, in Italy, for example, that the ancient usage of the Church must be modified greatly in order to meet the popular demand. This is an admission which it is ominous for that Church to make, and it may prove to be only an affecting wedge, separating the way for even greater change.—Intemationalist (U.S.A.).

EUROPEAN COLONIZATION OF UPTON.—Burman.—As soon as the cool season comes, says the Court Journal, British troops are going to make an overland march from India over the old Burmese frontier through our new territories and so down to Mandalay. What makes this a military grand tour is the more interesting is the suggested project, as yet only in the brain of an unpractical colonization scheme to follow for the fertile and healthy uplands now formally added to the Empire. The colony is to be European and Burmese. Numerous attractions are to be held out to Indian officers whose quivers are fuller than their coffers. The first instalment of these distinguished settlers is to be one of no less than 600 families, and the more gaudy of the projectors really think this time they have discovered a social and military Eldorado.

INTIMIDATING A BROTHEL-KEEPER BY FORGED LETTERS.

The Police are now making anxious inquiries regarding a Chinese employee of the Public Works Department, in connection with the threatening letter purporting to have come from the Colonial Secretary, which were delivered the other day to the mistress of a Chinese brothel in the western district.

The letters, one of which we published, were signed 'Stewart, Colonial Secretary,' and bore the stamp of the Public Works Department. The employé suspected of being the writer has disappeared since the day two coolies were brought before Mr Webber charged with delivering the letters, and his present whereabouts is a mystery. The two coolies arrested for delivering the documents were brought before Mr Webber to-day on remand.

Mr Webber appeared for the first prisoner (Pang Asung), and Dr Ho Kai defended the second prisoner, Ngai Mi. On the application of Mr Webber, his Worship agreed to try the cases separately.

Wong Lai, the mistress of a brothel at 98 Upper Station Street, said the defendant on the 8th inst. came to the brothel and delivered the letter in question, which witness took at once to the Police Station. Witness asked the girl to talk to him and keep him in the brothel, while she went to the Police Station and brought the policeman and had him arrested. The prisoner said nothing about the letter, but simply handed it to witness.

By Mr Webber.—There was a similar letter handed to me on the previous day, which I took to the Police Station, and the Police told me if any more came to inform them and have the man who brought it arrested.

Inspector Perry said the last witness brought the letter to him at the Central Station. The envelope had been opened.

It was addressed in Chinese and English.

By Mr Webber.—The prisoner on being brought to the station said he had got it from a man named Axi. That is the second prisoner.

His Worship said there was nothing whatever to show that the prisoner knew the contents of the letter, and he would be discharged.

The case against the second prisoner was then proceeded with.

Inspector Perry said the mistress of the brothel brought the first of the two letters to the station on the 7th inst. As the complainant was leaving the station the following day after having brought the second letter, witness saw her stopped by a man at the gate. Witness had that man arrested, and he was the prisoner now in the dock. The prisoner was charged with delivering a threatening letter, and was sentenced to five years' imprisonment. What I have to say till the trial is over.

By Dr Ho Kai.—My suspicion was aroused by seeing the prisoner stop the complainant, and he turned out to be the man who delivered the first letter. The complainant did not point him out to me.

Pang Asung, the prisoner in the former case, was called as a witness.

He Ho Kai objected to the witness being called, as the prisoner was not charged with delivering the second letter.

His Worship said he would award the complaint, clearing the prisoner with delivering both letters.

The November-December number of the China Review contains less variety than usual, but the few articles are very interesting.

The opening paper by Mr. Herbert A. Giles on "The New Testament in Chinese" is an excellent table of contents.—Celestial Empire.

The Publication always contains subjects of interest to sojourners in the Far East and the present issue will hold favourable if not advantageous comparison with preceding numbers.—Celestial Empire.

This number contains several articles of interest and value.—North-China Herald.

The China Review for September-October fully maintains the high standard of excellence which characterizes that publication, and altogether forms a very interesting and readable number. Meteorologists will find an interesting and valuable contribution by Dr. Fritsche, on "The Amount of Precipitation (Rain and Snow) of Peking," showing the results of observations made at the Imperial Russian Observatory at Peking, from 1841 to 1880. "Notes on the Occupation of Formosa," by Mr. Geo. Phillips, contains some interesting information, although much of it is second-hand. The Notices of New Books include a most general and appreciative review of "The Divine Classic of Nan-Hua," and the Notes and Queries are as usual very interesting.—North-China Daily News.

A substantial and reliable Review which all students of China and the Chinese would do well to peruse.—Changchunmen.
